Human Trafficking: Training for Healthcare Providers

Saturday, March 14, 2015
9:00am – 2:00pm
First Presbyterian Church of Berkeley
2407 Dana St., Berkeley, CA 94704
Room G202, Geneva Hall

Sponsored by
American Medical Women's Association (AMWA)
Physicians Against the Trafficking of Humans (PATH)

First Presbyterian Church of Berkeley
JPOW Initiative (Justice, Poverty, Oppression, and Women)

Alameda-Contra Costa Medical Association (ACCMA)

Speakers
Wendy Macías-Konstantopoulos, MD, MPH
Division of Global Health and Human Rights, Massachusetts General Hospital

Tonya Chaffee, MD, MPH
Child and Adolescent Support, Department of Pediatrics, University of California at San Francisco

Registration
$30 General
$25 AMWA Members, ACCMA Members, & First Pres Attenders
$15 Residents & Students
Training materials, breakfast/coffee, and lunch are included.

Register at www.fpcberkeley.org/MGHtraining (closes March 5)

This training session is an evidence-based program developed by Massachusetts General Hospital that targets a wide healthcare audience, with the goal of reaching physicians, residents, nurses, social workers, mental healthcare providers, administrators, and other health professionals. The aim of the training is to heighten healthcare workers' awareness of human trafficking, thus improving victim identification efforts and creating an environment of safe and appropriate care. Additionally, the trainings will help healthcare workers understand how they can play a role in the prevention of human trafficking in their communities.

AMWA Celebrating 100 Years American Medical Women's Association Empowering Women & Improving Health Care Since 1915
PATH PHYSICIANS AGAINST THE TRAFFICKING OF HUMANS
JPOW JUSTICE//POVERTY//OPPRESSION//WOMEN
ALAMEDA-CONTRA COSTA MEDICAL ASSOCIATION 1860 INCORPORATED 1871

Agenda

8:30 Registration and Breakfast

9:00 Welcome and Background
American Medical Women's Association (AMWA)
Physicians Against the Trafficking of Humans (PATH)
First Presbyterian Church of Berkeley
JPOW Initiative (Justice, Poverty, Oppression, and Women)

9:30 Understanding the Epidemiology and Pathology of Human Trafficking: The Public Health Perspective
Wendy Macías-Konstantopoulos, MD, MPH
Medical Director, Human Trafficking Initiative
Massachusetts General Hospital

10:30 Coffee Break

10:45 Identifying and Responding to Trafficking Victims in the Health Care Setting: A Multidisciplinary and Trauma-Informed Approach
Wendy Macías-Konstantopoulos, MD, MPH
Medical Director, Human Trafficking Initiative
Massachusetts General Hospital

11:45 Q & A

12:00 Lunch

12:45 Supporting the Victim of Human Trafficking - Local Resources
Tonya Chaffee, MD, MPH
Medical Director, Child and Adolescent Support
Department of Pediatrics, University of California at San Francisco

1:45 Q & A

2:00 Conclusion

Join AMWA's Human Trafficking Committee – Physicians Against the Trafficking of Humans (PATH), a national effort to raise awareness and provide resources for healthcare providers. Spread the word in your own community. Invite colleagues to view the informational videos at www.doc-path.org. All healthcare providers welcome. www.awma-doc.org.

Join First Presbyterian Church of Berkeley's JPOW (Justice, Poverty, Oppression, and Women) Initiative, which endeavors to address the needs of the local and global community through tangible expressions of love and service. For more information, please visit www.fpcberkeley.org/jpow.

Wendy Macías-Konstantopoulos, MD, MPH
Medical Director, Human Trafficking Initiative
Massachusetts General Hospital
Harvard Medical School

Wendy Macías-Konstantopoulos, MD, MPH is a board-certified practicing emergency physician at Massachusetts General Hospital (MGH) and faculty in the Department of Emergency Medicine at Harvard Medical School. An MPH graduate from the Harvard School of Public Health, Dr. Macías-Konstantopoulos also completed a Global Health Fellowship at MGH and was instrumental in the development of anti-trafficking work as a core program of the Division of Global Health & Human Rights (MGH Department of Emergency Medicine). She is founding Co-Director of the MGH Human Trafficking Initiative, and Chief Medical Director of the MGH Freedom Clinic, a new clinic for human trafficking survivors that won the 2014 Partnership for Freedom national competition.

Dr. Macías-Konstantopoulos has published and lectured widely on the intersection of health and human trafficking. She worked with the International Organization for Migration's Counter-Trafficking Unit in Indonesia, and represented MGH at the 2008 UN Global Forum to Fight Human Trafficking in Vienna. She is a member of the New Hampshire Attorney General's Commission to Combat Human Trafficking, the Education and Training Policy Implementation Committee of the Massachusetts Attorney General's Interagency Human Trafficking Task Force, and the SOAR to Health & Wellness Technical Working Group for the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services. Dr. Macías-Konstantopoulos is the current Chair of the Massachusetts Medical Society Committee on Violence Intervention and Prevention, Director of the MGH Violence Intervention and Advocacy Program, and member of the Physician's for Human Rights Asylum Network.

Tonya Chaffee, MD, MPH
Medical Director, Child and Adolescent Support, Advocacy and Resource Center (CASARC)
Director Teen Services, San Francisco General Hospital
Clinical Professor of Pediatrics, University of California, San Francisco

Tonya Chaffee, MD, MPH is a Clinical Professor of Pediatrics at the University of California, San Francisco. She is Medical Director of the Child and Adolescent Support, Advocacy and Resource Center (CASARC), San Francisco County's referral center for all children and adolescents who are alleged victims of sexual abuse including those who may be victims of sex trafficking. She is also Director of the Teen and Young Adult Health Center at San Francisco General Hospital where she provides primary care to teens and young adults.

Dr. Chaffee completed her Pediatric Residency, Chief Residency, and fellowship training in Adolescent Medicine at University of California, San Francisco. She subsequently completed an Academic Fellowship in Violence Prevention, at San Francisco General Hospital with a focus on youth violence. She earned a Masters in Public Health at UC Berkeley and has continued to conduct research and policy work the area of violence prevention. She has served on numerous local and national organizations focusing on youth violence, and most recently she served on the Institute of Medicine Committee's report on the Commercial Sexual Exploitation and Sex Trafficking of Minors in the United States. Currently, Dr. Chaffee has been involved with several Bay Area initiatives and organizations working to address human trafficking.