

Executive Synopsis

What is 8th CARC?

The 8th Central Asia Regional Congress (8th CARC) is an international, scientific congress, organized by the Thai Medical Women's Association, under the royal patronage of HM the Queen of Thailand (TMWA). The host of the Congress is rotated in the region and globally among member societies of the Medical Women's International Association (MWIA); this year is hosted by TMWA.

What is the benefit of attending 8th CARC?

1. This congress selects to tackle important issues of women, children, family that are common in the region, compared to issues in the western countries and attempts to bring in changes. This knowledge will be useful in real life, at home and at the workplace.
2. There is integration among different disciplines and types of health personnel. There are 10 symposia which run along life, from prevention of birth defect, rearing children, prevention of diseases and promotion of health, social issues, management of diseases, personalized medicine, palliative care until graceful death.
3. Our guest speakers are physicians, nurses, administrators, thinkers from government and private organization, including international ones. They are invited to speak because of their knowledge, experience, ability to inspire, and available network.
4. Opportunity to exchange ideas, make contact, and work together among physicians, nurses, allied health personnel, from new ideas or improving on old ones. We will also recall the work of our foremothers who have served the country.
5. Opportunity to learn about Thai culture and arts, and also those of other countries, in a friendly environment that will contribute to life balance.
