CME Information

Accreditation Statement

CME Statement. This activity has been planned and implemented in accordance with the Essential Areas and Policies of the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education (ACCME) through the joint sponsorship of Indiana University School of Medicine and the American Medical Women's Association (AMWA). The Indiana University School of Medicine is accredited by the ACCME to provide continuing medical education for physicians.

Credit Designation Statement

Indiana University School of Medicine designates this live activity for up to 25 PRA Category 1 Credits™. Physicians should claim only the credit commensurate with the extent of their participation in the activity.

Faculty Disclosure Statement

In accordance with the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education (ACCME) Standards for Commercial Support, educational programs sponsored by Indiana University School of Medicine (IUSM) must demonstrate balance, independence, objectivity, and scientific rigor. All faculty, authors, editors, and planning committee members participating in an IUSM-sponsored activity are required to disclose any relevant financial interest or other relationship with the manufacturer(s) of any commercial product(s) and/or provider(s) of commercial services that are discussed in an educational activity.

Note: While it offers CME credits, this activity is not intended to provide extensive training or certification in the field.

Meeting and Course Description

This conference will convene leading academic physicians, scientists, students, and prominent policy makers to discuss advances in women's health, new concepts in mentorship, and career advancement for women in medicine. The conference will address how advances in medical technology and affordable care will affect the treatment of patients in the future.

Meeting and Course Objectives

At the conclusion of this program, attendees should be able to: 1. Incorporate guidelines on organ systems into clinical practice to improve management of diseases; 2. Discuss screening guidelines for early detection of osteoporosis and diabetes; 3. Discuss current guidelines for screening and management of reproductive health; 4. Define warning signs for cardiac disease in women and identify patient approaches for health lifestyles; 5. Describe the role of gender in management and prevention of disease; 6. Implement mentoring among physicians and learners to generate more physicians practicing medicine; 7. Define human trafficking, and identify economic, political, social, and cultural factors that contribute to human trafficking; 8. Support the mentoring and career development of women in medicine.
