

Dear Dr. _____

I am currently planning next semester's "Dinner With a Doctor" program and was looking for a Pathologist to host one in February - I'm not sure if you plan this far in advance, but since our schedule is now available, I thought I'd see if you'd be interested in hosting one the evening of February 19, 20, or 21?

A little about the Dinner with a Doctor program - each month a different female physician hosts dinner at their home for our AMWA members to attend. This allows for a casual and comforting setting for us to ask frank questions topics such as being a woman in medicine, selecting a specialty and work-life balance. We usually start by introducing ourselves and answering some sort of question related to your specialty (e.g. for an OB/GYN, we each came up with the "most frequently asked OB/GYN questions"). From there, we'll ask that you tell us about yourself. The rest of the conversation from then on is generally guided by our members' questions.

Please let me know if you're interested in hosting the February one!

Thank you,

Signature
